WHILE THE COAST SLEEPS

Hundreds of telephone people in the West keep night patrol to help meet emergencies and keep service reliable

1. Darkness can't stop these telephone men as they begin an important emergency cable repair at night. Fortunately, these emergencies are not common . . . usually can be repaired in daylight. But, up and down the Coast, other telephone people burn midnight oil regularly . . . so your telephone will work for you when you want it.

2. One important night-time job is done by this electronic tester. It checks lines to make sure they're in good shape. At the same time, other telephone men are vacuum cleaning and inspecting sensitive switching equipment. . . you might say it's stopping trouble before it starts. And night is the best time to do it, while most telephone users are sleeping.

3. In the quiet hours of the night operators handle relatively few calls. . . but many of them are vitally important. Repairs are on call for service on important lines . . . doctors, hospitals and the like. Garagemen check and equip trucks for the next day's installation rounds. Building service workers make offices spic and span . . . all a part of providing reliable service to you.

4. You can help yourself get the most from your telephone . . . a servant that is constantly growing in value. You can do it by using the telephone in the most efficient way: being sure of the right number before you call . . . giving the called person plenty of time to get to the telephone . . . spacing your calls so others may get a call through to you.
